Supplement Well Received

The town report supplement published with the Feb. 18 issue of the TOWNSMAN has been well received.

The report contained activities of municipal government for 1970 and in a capsulized version, gave an annual recording of activities of the year along with its highlights.

General reaction to the publication, first of its type to be presented in newspaper format, has been favorable.

The public in general has found the format acceptable, readable and understandable.

Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, with the approval of the selectmen, felt that the supplement to Andover's own newspaper, was a good method to use to reach the widest audience. The information contained therein, would be available at a time when residents would have time to sit down and read it through, the manager pointed out.

The usual booklet, which will be published according to law, is generally picked up on the day of election, or at town meeting, and often not reviewed as thoroughly as the supplement format allowed, the manager said.

Broader coverage resulted from the publication in the TOWNSMAN, with its wide circulation area. The town manager felt this afforded all residents of the community to be informed on the progress and process of municipal affairs during the past year.

According to law, the town must annually publish a report of the Unusual interest in this year's annual municipal election may produce a good turnout of voters on Monday, March 1, when the polls will be open to a record 11,792 voters from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in all six precincts.

Contests for all four offices on the ballot has spurred the interest as candidates make their last minute appeals to the voters.

This year, for the first time, teen-agers will be eligible to cast ballots, as well as participate in town meeting. As of the final date for registration to be eligible for participation in the election and town meeting, there were 124 in the 19-year-old and above category registered.

There will be new polling places for voters in precincts one, four and five this year.

Voters in precinct one, who voted in the state and congressional elections in November at a new polling place last November, will again return to the Doherty school, rather than the now defunct Central fire station.

Precinct four voters, who formerly used the Grange Hall on Shawsheen Road, will this year cast ballots at the new West Elementary school addition, with access from High Plain road.

In Ballardvale, Precinct five, voters will be using the South school, rather than the Community building as previously.

These are the only changes. Precinct two polling place remains the Andover Baptist Church hall off Central street, Precinct three, the Sacred Heart school and Precinct six, Peabody House, Phillips Academy.

Interestingly enough, there are contests in all four offices up for consideration this year, with the selectmen's race capturing major attention as six candidates seek the two spots open.

Selectman Roger W. Collins, 50 Maple Ave., is seeking re-election, Selectman William Stewart is retiring after serving since 1958, the first year of municipal government under the town manager charter.

Others seeking election as selectman, are Benjamin C. Brown, 50 Whittier St., Francis J. Byrne, 27 West Parish Drive, Milton Greenberg, 46 Sagamore Drive, Atty. Michael W. Morris, 75 Pine St. and William W. Stewart, 149 Beacon St.

Atty. Arthur Williams, moderator for the past several years, is seeking re-election and is being challenged by former town manager, Richard J. Bowen, 12 Bannister Road.

Incumbents Mrs. Virginia H. Cole, 268 Highland Road and William F. King, 71 Harold Parker Road, candidates for re-election to the school committee, are being challenged by Francis E. Griggs, Jr., 211 Haggetts Pond Road.

Thomas P. Eldred, a veteran of several years on the Andover Housing Authority, is seeking re-election to that board, which is for a five year term.

Also seeking membership on the board are Atty. Walter J. Corcoran, 14 Marie Drive and Donald J. Mulvey, 66 Summer St. Both the selectmen and the school committee positions are for three year terms.

The post of moderator is for a one year term.

In addition to the contests there are two referendum questions on the ballots.

One question deals with permissive legislation dealing with adoption of vacation regulations for police and fire department employees. Approval would allow more liberal vacation privileges to members of both departments.

Question two on the ballot, if approved, would give civil service status to members of the cemetery department. Members of the department, somehow were overlooked when the town approved civil service coverage for all public works employees some years ago. The move is to equalize all departments under the public works classification.

Voting method will be once again by computer, or punch card.

A voter obtains a card from the election clerk which is placed in a machine. A stylis is used to punch out a hole in the card to the right of the name of the candidate of one's choice.

Wine Tasting At Church Social Event

A short lesson in wines -- and enough samples to make the lesson clear -- is on the agenda for the March social activity at the Unitarian-Universalist Church in Andover.

Members and friends of the Church will gather at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 4, to learn more about wine, through a film narrated by actor Joseph Cotton. Jack Conley of Haverhill will lead a discussion about wine and how it should be selected. Cheese and crackers will round out the menu for the evening.

Reservations for the wine tasting may be made at the church office. Chairman of the monthly social gathering is Mrs. Charlotte Martin. Assisting on the committee are Miss Marjorie Sherman and Mrs. Barbara Johnson.

Ham, Bean Supper

The Friendly Circle of Andover Baptist church is planning a baked ham and bean supper on April 3 between 5 and 7 p.m.

Tickets are available from members or may be obtained at the door.

The committee in charge of the kitchen includes: Mrs. Ernest Stocks, Mrs. Robert Stocks and Mrs. Fred H. Otis.

The Candidates Express Their Interest In Seeking Office

The TOWNSMAN, as a public service, has asked all candidates for public office to comment on their candidacy for public office in the annual town election.

All candidates were asked to state their reasons for seeking office as well as their goals if elected.

All were contacted by letter from this office. Those who responded, have their comments published in this week's edition, as follows:

Moderator

Atty. Arthur Williams

The most important function of the moderator is the selection of individuals to serve on the Finance Committee.

The town of Andover at the present time has, in my opinion, a well balanced Finance Committee. The most important attributes necessary for a member are honesty, integrity and a desire to serve his fellow townsman.

Most individuals I have appointed up to the present time were unknown to me personally. All my appointees have been sought out, none has requested such appointment.

During the past two years, the Finance Committee and the various boards in town have been successful in having complete open discussion on budget requests. I am grateful for the cooperation received from the town manager and board of selectmen by the Finance Committee. This has led to a more efficient handling of budget items on the floor of the town meeting. My goal is to continue to improve this relationship when I can.

My reasons for seeking the office of moderator are multifold. I strongly believe that I am qualified to be the moderator by experience and education. I have the unique and rather privileged experience of serving in all three branches of government, the legislative, executive and judicial. A great deal of my public life has been devoted to public service.

I enjoy doing my part in trying to make Andover a better place in which to live.

I do wish to share my knowledge and experience with my fellow citizens. I believe by being the town moderator, I can best do this.

Richard J. Bowen

I believe that there is a "leadership" crisis in Andover - not so much in what has been done but more in what has not been done. It begins with the Town Meeting, the Town's only policy making body, and the man chosen by the voters to lead it. It ends with the voter who for one reason or another has "dropped out" or has been "turned off" by the Town Meeting.

I believe that my candidacy for Town Moderator offers the voters of Andover a clear choice between a continuation of what has gone on in the past and the judgement that each person chooses to make of its quality or value and what I believe can and should be a far more exciting, innovative and imaginative adventure in self-government . . . an experience which puts to use those values and lessons learned from the past and which have sustained the Town Meeting and served the interests of the Town so well and so nobly.

The cup isn't half empty . . . it's half full!

It is to the Town Moderator that the citizens of Andover must look for the even-handed and sensitive leadership of the conduct of their business at the Open Town Meeting. He is their advocate. There can be no moderation in his commitment to the system and in his obligation to foster and protect actively the rights and privileges of all of its members.

The Town Meeting needs some "tender loving care." This is my pledge to the voters. It has not been my custom to give any opportunity less than my best.

Selectman

Roger W. Collins

My reasons for seeking re-election to the office of Selectman have not changed since the time of my first election seven years ago. They are a desire to be vitally involved in the day by day administration of our government and in the orderly planning of our Town's future growth.

My goals in the coming years will continue to be: (1) the preservation of the open and predominantly residential character of the town; (2) to provide a level of community service consistent with acceptable local standards and municipal fiscal policy; (3) to encourage a high standard of commercial and industrial development in a manner not detrimental to the residential character of the Town.

Specifically, I support Federal and State revenue sharing; immediate construction of a new water treatment facility; the remodeling and renovation of our Town Hall and the continued expansion of our conservation program.

I disapprove changing Town Meeting from open to representative form; and lessening Finance Committee responsibilities at Special Town Meeting.

Benjamin C. Brown

Andover needs a big change in running its affairs.

When we adopted the town manager charter, this was supposed to solve our problems so to speak, but after ten years of this managership I do not see we have saved anything by this move.

I believe the selectmen have failed to remedy this situation and are fully responsible for the results.

Andover needs a board of selectmen who are policy makers from the word go, and have the common sense to have their own and the votes of the town meeting carried out.

I do not believe this is being done at the present time.

Let's try and change the vote of the board that seems to exist today. Three-two votes cannot be the ever lasting vote of the board.

I would like to serve and to become a part of a change this year.

Francis J. Byrne

The following paragraphs outline my reasons for running for Selectman, and some of my goals for that office.

2. I feel that the Board of Selectmen should have new membership which can and will exert the necessary leadership to retard our sky-rocketing tax rate, effect changes in traditional procedures of attending to town business and put a curb on any further unwarranted additions to our bonded debt.

3. Andover, just as the national government is doing, must reassess and, where required re-order its priorities in the allocation of community resources. I feel I can exert the strong and active leadership, in this regard, which only new membership on the Board can provide.

4. Andover is now totally reliant on non-resident representation at the State level. It is most important that effective lines of communication be established between the people of Andover and our Lawrence and North Andover representatives on Beacon Hill. The Board of Selectmen needs a member who knows and can effectively relate to these lawmakers, in the interest of our community in such matters as state aid, special legislation etc.

Milton Greenberg

Andover is a community in which we see our families growing up and in which we enjoy living. In running for the Office of Selectman, I am deeply interested in the future of Andover and its orderly growth. In seeking this post, I am asking the voters of Andover to give me the opportunity to share with them the achievement of the community goals which they cherish.

Town affairs have now grown to be a large scale operation, with many decisions involving millions of dollars. I would like to use my training and experience in helping Andover make the proper decisions and see that they are carried out effectively. Specifically, in solving its key problems, Andover requires that clear long-term goals be developed as to (a) what kind of town Andover should be, (b) what it can spend for specific functions over specified periods of time, (c) what priorities it assigns to those needs, and (d) what future tax rate its citizens can tolerate.

Andover's resources, including our treasure and environment, are not limitless; only planning and management will assure Andover's citizens a better tomorrow.

Michael W. Morris

The Board of Selectmen are referred to as the Supervisors of Andover. In fact many of the supervisory powers of the Selectmen have undergone such erosion as to become almost non-existent. As a result of the above our community is the victim of a leadership vacuum, uncoordinated services, a soaring tax rate and an inability to hold any individual or Board accountable.

As your Selectman, I will take the following steps to restore logic to a rather muddled situation:

1. I will fight to institute local legislation that will curb the autonomy of our School Committee. It is my firm conviction that this Committee has extended their independence beyond sound consideration of Andover's financial condition.

2. I will enforce section 10 (k) of our town charter that calls for centralized purchasing and demand that this money-saving procedure be enacted immediately.

3. I will fight to restore coordination to our town's recreation services.

4. I will resist any raises for the Selectmen, however insignificant, and recognize any proposals for such as a betrayal of a "spending" attitude.

5. I will insure that the development of our town's industrial and open lands will preserve the character of our town.

School Committee Virginia H. Cole

Better education for Andover students is my goal in seeking re-election to the School Committee. This has always been my goal and over the years it has meant many things. This year the emphasis is on inservice education for teachers, improved instructional materials, elective courses or a broadened base within the subject areas, an improved and enlarged summer school as a first step towards year round use of school buildings, greater use of teacher aides for economy and to free the teacher from non-professional duties, equal educational opportunities in all schools, and continuing satisfactory collective bargaining with our teachers.

The schools in Andover have improved over the last ten years but they are not the best schools that we can afford. I believe much more can be done without necessarily spending a great deal more money. New methods are being developed to meet the varying abilities of students without hiring an additional teacher for each new group of twenty-five students.

I have had children in Andover schools for the past nineteen years. I have worked in citizen's groups for the schools for twelve years and have served on the School Committee for six years. I have spent ten hours per week during much of the school year on school committee business. I have the experience and the time to work within the system for better education for all our children.

William F. King

Many changes have taken place in the educational scene during the last few years. Some of the more significant shifts have been very subtle. The number of men pursuing teaching and administrative careers in public school systems has increased sharply, for example. The improved wage scales have attracted additional highly talented scholars into public education.

As a result, the school committee has become the bridge between the public educational philosophy and the professional educator. This is an exciting and rewarding role, which I enjoy. Each innovation we examine presents a challenge to determine its value to the future of our children and the development of the system. We encourage our staff to be creative and yet we must not lose sight of costs. In the long run, our educators will be the source of ideas that make costs more bearable.

We have made considerable progress in the accommodation of the new roles of teacher, school, and home which have emerged. These changes appear irreversible and although they have temporarily made some of us uncomfortable I hope we can continue our programs of communication and conciliation.

Francis E. Griggs, Jr.

I am seeking this office as I believe that the citizens of Andover deserve something better from their School Committee and that I can give it to them. The existing committee has shown a callous disregard for the financial ability of the Town to pay their ever increasing tax bill. They have shown their inability to plan in detail and implement new educational programs. Their greatest failing, in my opinion, is their decision not to present to the Town the alternatives to the "build-we-must" syndrome which af-

Housing Authority

Thomas P. Eldred

I have been a member of the Board of the Andover Housing Authority for 13 years. I was a tenant for five years previous to that.

I was on the Board during the building of the two elderly projects.

We at this time are investigating the possibilities of more elderly housing, and are constantly watching all legislation and new laws that are passed concerning housing in all aspects.

The Board recently compiled a list of available plots and are looking into costs and feasibility of these areas.

The veterans and the two elderly projects are built on former town owned land. This is the way costs were kept to a minimum, as rents in the projects are based on total cost. Town land not specially designated for a specific use is very scarce, thus add the purchase price of land and it is pretty hard to come up with low rental housing. Recently legislation was passed on subsidizing and the board is awaiting copies of these laws to see if anything can be done in Andover with them.

Walter J. Corcoran

I believe that the future years will find the influence of the Federal and State governments being brought to bear on the Housing Authority more so than on other town boards. The scope of their duties is constantly being expanded; the Federal government, in particular, is using it as a vehicle to attack social problems. It is an area of increasing legislative activity, and I believe that my experience in the fields of public and private property law can be a valuable addition to the board.

We must have a board that can evaluate and take advantage of the legislative gains, and yet continue to protect local governmental identity. It can, by taking proper advantage of the various programs available, contribute greatly to the orderly and beneficial growth of our town.

I ask my fellow citizens to consider my qualifications and interest in this field.

I would consider it a very special privilege and honor to serve as a member of the Andover Housing Authority.

Donald J. Mulvey

There is a crisis caused by uneven distribution of housing. The limited supply available in the suburbs effectively excludes many, including elderly and young-married natives.

Until recently I assumed that Andover would wait until state government intervened, and I wondered how long it would be before existing or proposed legislation would, in effect, turn over town zoning powers to the state.

But we don't have to resign ourselves to this. Federal and state programs can be used in many ways to provide housing consistent with the character of the town without seriously damaging the tax base.

The Housing Authority has broad powers to study these numerous and complex programs and distribute information about them to both public and private agencies.

The Housing Authority should develop the expertise to promote maximum use of private development that is taxpaying before resorting to public projects which are not.

Above all, I believe we must do our own planning before our plans are made for us.

I am not yet an expert on the available programs -- but I am in a position to explore them because my Company encourages this kind of activity and offers use of its facilities. I would work to stop the transformation of Andover into an upper-middle class enclave because I think the more diverse Andover I grew up in was a healthier community.

By the year 2000 we shall need twice as much water, one third more food, houses for 100 million more Americans, roads for three times the number of cars as today, and space to dispose of, yearly, another million tons of solid waste, the Massachusetts Audubon Society reports.

Music To Our Ears

By Edward P. Grigoli

In the evolution of Jazz "Boogie Woogie" like "Fagtime" must be accepted as a Jazz style for the piano.

Although some records show that a pianist by the name of "Pine Top Smith" from Chicago was the first to use the word "boogie" in 1928, Bunk Johnson insisted that he heard the style used by pianists before the twenties.

This style of piano playing derived from the imitations of a guitar chording technique used by three guitar players when performing together.

One would improvise the melody, another would play rhythmic chords and the third would play a bass line which employed an insistent repetition.

Therefore, in order for piano players to imitate this full style, a pianist had to improvise a rhythmic melodic line with his right hand and use his left hand to play a percussive "walking bass". The whole effect was to create an exciting style, full of cross rhythms.

Some period pianists who achieved fame through "Boogie Woogie" were: Charlie "Cow Cow" Davenport, Jimmy Yancy and Meade Lux Lewis.

This report, by the way, contains a review of the town's finances, the annual report of the auditors from the view the accounts, some customary information from Andover, the minutes of the meetings.

This report, in fact, is smaller than the previous year's supplement, and a handbook for town citizens as well.

Put it will be made available to the public. As for the TOWNSMAN, Town Manager James J. O'Neil reported. It was designed as a new format for reporting. It was designed to be attractive, informative, and to a better informed community.

The result of the format created a financial saving, in fact, to publish from 4 annual reports in 4 years past with the same amount of money. The former entire report of reporting result of purpose the manager's statistical data, the informative material looked.

"With this new format, we were able to reach a wider audience, and also generally are in a better position to report on the town's progress."

The supplement only news material but graphically presented noteworthy 1970 in pictorial form.

The town manager, the TOWNSMAN received several copies of the new form of annual report. The manager has telephone conversations as well as lauding the supplement.

Manager Austin reported that the supplement, making the supplement thoroughly readable to the eye in design.

Information for the supplement was gathered from all departments involved in the town's activities. Mr. Fenton is the England correspondent.

year's activities which must be made available to the public.

This report, by statute, must contain a review of the town's finances, the annual report of the auditors from the state who review the accounts, the jury list, some customary reports and in Andover, the minutes of town meetings.

This report, in book form will be smaller this year, due to the supplement, and will still be a handbook for town officials and citizens as well.

Put it will be mainly a historical, statistical document.

As for the TOWNSMAN supplement, Town Manager Austin stated, "It is a new concept in public reporting. It was designed for more attractive reporting and to lead to a better informed citizen of the community."

The result of the change in format created a considerable financial saving, in view of having to publish from 4,500 to 6,000 annual reports in booklet form in years past with the resulting demand not that large.

The former entire booklet form of reporting resulted in a conflict of purpose the manager felt. With its statistical data, many times, the informative material was overlooked.

"With this new form of reporting, we were able to reach a wider audience, and also when they generally are in a mood to read."

"The former booklet form may or may not have been entirely digested."

The supplement contained not only news material in its columns, but graphically portrayed particular noteworthy happenings of 1970 in pictorial form. The pictures were from the town files as well as those of the TOWNSMAN.

The town manager, as well as the TOWNSMAN office have received several compliments on the new form of annual reporting. The manager has not only had telephone conversation, but mail as well lauding the new approach.

Manager Austin noted the professional approach to the publication, making the overall content thoroughly readable and pleasant to the eye in designing and layout.

Information for the report was gathered from all town departments involved and written by John H. Fenton, director of public information at Phillips Academy.

Mr. Fenton is the retired New England correspondent for the New York Times, and author of several books, including the famed, "Cushing of Boston," an autobiography of the late Cardinal Cushing.

The makeup and layout work was done by personnel at the TOWNSMAN. Working on the format were Raymond B. DeRuisseau, business and advertising manager and Mrs. Bertha K. Folley, production chief of the newspaper.

Additional copies will be available at the town meeting and at the town house.

Through 3,000 local chapters, March of Dimes volunteers in the battle to prevent birth defects are mobilized to initiate programs of prenatal care, public health information, professional education and community service.

West PTO Planning For Supper

On Wednesday, March 3, the West School, P.T.O., will hold a pot luck supper and 'open classrooms' night. This year, because of the number of pupils enrolled at West school, the pot luck supper will be held on two different nights.

The supper March 3 is for parents of children in kindergarten through grade three. These classrooms will be open after the supper and the pupils' work will be on display.

On Wednesday, April 7, a similar supper and program will be offered for parents of pupils in grades four through six.

Norman Fredette, first vice president of the organization is co-chairman, assisted by room mothers of kindergarten through grade three.

Parents have been asked to bring a casserole, a salad or a dessert for the supper. Slips have been sent home with the children and should be returned to the school by Friday, Feb. 26 for parents to make supper reservations.

New Scout Troop Is Formed

A new Boy Scout Troop 78, is being sponsored by the West Andover Community Association. As a relatively small organization it particularly welcomes new members. Boys between the ages of 11 and 14 are encouraged to call R. Swift, Scoutmaster at 475-1935. The troop is formulating various outings and fund raising drives to defer the cost of required equipment.

At a recent meeting, Scott Coleman was awarded the Tenderfoot Badge. This was the first award presented by Troop 78.

One of the Troop's planned activities is the ham and bean supper to be held on Saturday, March 6 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the West Andover Community Center on River Road (across from Vocational High school). Tickets are available and may be obtained by calling Wright Craig, assistant scoutmaster at 475-0738.

The gray fox lives from the woodlands of New England to the Pacific, and in the Southwest down to Central America. Unlike the red fox, it is smaller, likes warm climates, is sociable.

School Articles Discussion

Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert has called a community meeting on Tuesday, March 2, at 7:30 p.m. at East Junior High auditorium to provide information and community discussion of the town meeting articles for the Doherty school addition and the high school, also to have open discussion of the open concept school.

The superintendent said that it is his strong conviction that in times of rising construction costs and a rising tax bite, a community cannot afford to move away from flexible open concept school construction.

Challenge House Enlightening

(A Townsman News Feature)

What is a visit to Challenge House like?

Reality Inc. invites any and all area citizens to visit its drug rehabilitation center in Methuen, up above St. Basil's Seminary, during the Open House held each Saturday night.

The Curious Citizen wonders how Challenge House works, how the residents feel about outsiders coming in to visit, how an entire family would find visiting Challenge House.

One Saturday night surely is not enough to pretend to wholly understand the therapeutic community that Challenge House is. But it is enough to bring back strong impressions of a large family, close knit by love and hard discipline and the constant acceptance of hard reality.

One Saturday night is enough to wholeheartedly recommend a family visit to Challenge House. Your kids will find it a far more fascinating, alive and sympathetic experience than passively taking in one of the few movies nowadays that are suitable for a family to watch. More than watching is involved in visiting Challenge House.

You'll find that the portion of old Searles Mansion which St. Basil's Seminary has donated to Reality Inc. is alive with people, with cordiality and earnestness. Saturday night Open Houses are the high point of the week, organized and looked forward to by residents and staff, and are the point of contact between the Challenge House family and the community outside which supports it, indeed, it seems a real part of the therapy of this therapeutic community.

You don't need to phone that you are coming. But when you drive up to the parking lot above St. Basil's, a resident will quickly meet you with a car. He drives you up to the castle, asking if it's your first visit, assures you that it's great and tells you to have a good time, as he drops you off at the door.

"Alive" is the way to describe the whole atmosphere inside. A large group is just coming out of the chapel, where the Challenge House drug prevention play has just been performed, and their faces tell you it has been moving. A family says "excuse me" and goes ahead of you to the kitchen with large pans covered with aluminum foil. Regular visitors, they have brought a gift of food, and you are reminded that up to this point Challenge House has operated completely on the support and donations of the community.

A girl at the desk calls an attractive resident who has been in the program for 40 days, to guide your family through Challenge House and explain the program. Beverly is buoyant and smiling, but tells you she is a little nervous, since this is the first time she has been a guide alone. She brings along another resident, a pretty girl who also smiles, but who has dark circles under her eyes, suggesting she has been through a lot, and recently. She tells you she has been in the program only four days, but she is into it enough to add comments to Beverly's explanations of how the program works.

Past the kitchen, you come through a tiny room that is all cupboards and a sink, which every resident knows well. You learn that each resident must start at the bottom with the most menial jobs, such as washing dishes all day from 6 a.m. til evening, with time out only to eat.

You learn that when anyone lets down on his job in the community, or has a bad attitude toward another resident, community pressure is brought to bear in hard verbal reprimands or, if this fails, shaved heads or signs to be worn that invite other residents' hard questions; "Why did you do that?" -- to help the new resident make himself face his situation, and the alternative.

It's hard. It's certainly counter to the lifestyle of families whose parents do not even expect their children to join the family work by performing routine chores.

Challenge House expects a lot from its residents, their best all the time. But most of them evidently have come to view it as a life or death situation - back to the street is death, and the Challenge House approach represents life for them.

Your friendly and attractive guide explains that the punishments are "to keep you from backsliding. If your bed and things aren't clean and neat, or if you don't do your job, or you treat someone badly, that's just slipping back into junkie habits, street habits." What was her habit, back on the street? "Heroin. Think of the lowest and I was beneath that. On the bottom." It's hard to believe, looking at her now.

Some residents can't take it and leave, she tells you, but 75 percent of them come back. To be able to come back, they must invest something of themselves in Challenge House - their hair. Their heads are shaved, and everyone meets with them and just yells at them "Why did you leave? Why did you hurt us that way?"

Couldn't it be done without the hard words and the yelling, when people backslide, or leave?

"That's how you know they care. If everyone didn't catch you up when you slip, you'd never accept the fact that you were backsliding, and if it was easy to just come back, you'd leave again; you'd never make it."

Just then a tall young man with a shaved head goes by, carrying a ladder. Another boy passes him on the stairway, briefly throws an arm over his shoulder with a "Hi Roger."

Challenge House operates on the encounter philosophy, and Resident Director Jim Alonzi, whose strong personality is impressed everywhere at Challenge House, will tell you that this kind of community therapy is the only kind with more than 5 percent success in drug rehabilitation. The state is impressed with Challenge House's success enough to have authorized a grant to the program, but the money hasn't come yet, and the therapeutic community depends still on community support.

The support which Challenge House operates on is moral and financial support, gifts of food and work and time. Money is always needed, but they are just grateful for other kinds of support. Some area teachers have recently begun coming regularly to conduct classes, so that Challenge House residents can step back into their school program when they graduate, after a year and a half, more or less, or can have a high school equivalency certificate.

After the guided tour, everyone gathers in the meeting room, where some nights there is a symposium on some tenet of the Challenge House Philosophy, e.g., "No man is an island." Sometimes there is singing, jokes, led by residents, and a recent graduate. Here the atmosphere is thick with fellowship, and rings with much laughter, as benefactors are kidded or thanked, or songs and clapping; "He's got the whole world in his hands." The hat is passed, too. Benefit.

An Andover group is planning a benefit cocktail party this Saturday evening, 6 - 9 p.m., at the Sheraton Rolling Green, to raise money to meet serious financial needs of Challenge House.

Andover adults who are interested in helping by attending this event, or by simply donating money are invited to call Mrs. Edwin Parker, 685-1826, for details.

Representative sides said that this settling sessions could last details of the contract then will go to the staff and to the school for ratification.

Although details of the contract have not been officially announced, Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert told the TOWNSMAN that Andover teachers have themselves to dropping arbitrary limits on the time spent at school, outside time.

The result, said Seifert, "you're going to see an amount of student work more individualized than conferences, - across the board."

Seifert said he was with the professional Andover teachers, when across the nation are demanding more restrictions on the time at school outside of the Andover teachers' time.

Carroll called it a professional light, agree with the administration what we can do, to be community's educational poses."

Carroll pointed out the cost of living raise the teachers falls the cost of living rise for the area, which the State quoted to him as between 6.7%. He commented the committee team, led by Virginia Cole were gainers," but that it had been characterized as last year, by mutual agreement.

Superintendent Seifert out that after figuring teachers' raise, the increase this year was more than the increase was and that both this year the budget increase approximately $800,000 that the year before, although 550 new pupils added to the system time.

Agreement Reached On Salaries

Negotiators for the School Committee and the Andover Education Association, representing the teachers, have reached agreement on a 6% cost of living raise, and on mutually agreeable working conditions for the teachers' contract. Representatives from both sides said that this week's negotiating sessions could wrap up the last details of the contract, which then will go to the professional staff and to the school committee for ratification.

Although details of the contract have not been officially released, Superintendent Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert told the TOWNSMAN that the Andover teachers have committed themselves to dropping the arbitrary limits on the time teachers spend at school, outside of class-time.

The result, said Seifert, is that "you're going to see a greater amount of student services, and more individual parent teacher conferences, - across the board."

Seifert said he was delighted with the professional attitude of Andover teachers. "At a time when across the nation teachers are demanding more and more restrictions on the time they spend at school outside of the classroom, the Andover teachers are voluntarily making their working conditions more flexible and showing trust in the administrators." AEA President Robert Carroll confirmed that the offer to drop the specified limits on teachers' time had come from the teachers.

Carroll called it "a commitment to look at the use of time in a professional light, and mutually agree with the administration on what we can do, to best serve the community's educational purposes."

Carroll pointed out that the 6% cost of living raise agreed on by the teachers falls short of the cost of living rise for the Boston area, which the State House has quoted to him as between 6.2% and 6.7%. He commented that the school committee team, led by Mrs. Virginia Cole were "hard bargainers," but that the sessions had been characterized this year, as last year, by mutual respect.

Superintendent Seifert pointed out that after figuring in the teachers' raise, the budget increase this year would be less than the increase was last year, and that both this year and last year the budget increases of approximately $800,000 were less than the year before he came, although 550 new pupils have been added to the system since that time.

James Park Sloan

Noted Author To Speak

The author of "War Games," a new novel presently receiving unreserved praise in national library, publishing and popular magazine reviews, will speak at Memorial Hall Library, Tuesday, March 2, at 8 p.m.

The public is invited to hear novelist James Park Sloan, sponsored by the Great Books Discussion Group, speak in the upstairs hall of the library.

The 26-year old ex-paratrooper's first full-length work has been hailed as "a fine first novel, written in a style which is spare, controlled, Camus-like at times. The unnamed protagonist is a man who leaves college to go to Vietnam and confront modern war . . . Mr. Sloan's symbols are choice, fitting, funny . . . and he has produced a relevant novel of ideas which succeeds beautifully."

Mrs. R. Ashton Smith of the library staff said that Memorial Hall is delighted to have Mr. Sloan coming, and sees him as the first of a succession of contemporary authors and speakers which the library hopes to bring to Andover.

Sloan will speak on his book, and also on any of his other interests -- such as education, ecology, or the need to do more for the elderly.

The young author has already had an arresting career, at 26. A Harvard magna cum laude graduate, he was teaching a course on management accounting as a senior there. He entered the Harvard Business School as a personal challenge, although his aims were not business-oriented. He designed a course on western values for the business school, and while there did a study on transportation which convinced him that taxis and public transport, not an automobile, were for him.

"Most of the things that come with machines," he has stated, "I could do without," although he admits with some embarrassment that he and his wife own a car, which she drives.

He is now an enthusiastic teacher of English, at Winchester High School, and says he has had a great deal to learn about engaging the interest of younger students. He says one cannot do it by charisma, not by pure knowledge. "You have to know your audience."

Sloan is a Vietnam veteran himself, although he says his first novel is not biographical. A leading library journal review describes it as confronting the reader with the gut issues not only of the war in Vietnam, but of war and militarism in general from ancient Greece to the Pentagon.

Mrs. Sloane will accompany her husband to Andover for the Memorial Hall Library talk.

Vacation Allowance On Ballot

Question one on the ballot at Monday's town election would provide for more liberal vacation policy for police and fire department employees.

The question reads, "Shall an act passed by the General Court in the year 1949 entitled, 'An act relative to the granting of vacations for members of the regular and permanent police and fire forces in certain cities and towns,' be accepted?"

As explained by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin, the adoption or approval of the article would provide for a two weeks vacation for members of the public safety department after one year of service, three weeks after five years and four weeks after 10 years.

Currently members of the department are allowed two weeks vacation after one year, three after eight years and four weeks after 13 years.

Mr. Austin explained that the employees of the public works department already have the vacation allowances provided under the referendum which the public safety employees seek.

The manager further explained that he did not feel he had the right to grant the more liberal vacation benefits.

Total cost in the initial year, if approved and taking effect as of April 1, would be in the vicinity of $5,700, the manager said.

Site Chosen For Andover Y

Officials of the Greater Lawrence Y.M.C.A. and Merrimack College have jointly announced the signing of an agreement which will permit the YMCA to acquire some 15 acres of college property.

On this land the YMCA plans to erect a family-centered YMCA building to be a new and modern home for its Andover branch. The planned new facility will serve residents of both Andover and North Andover.

During off-peak hours the "Y" will provide physical education and recreation programs for Merrimack College students.

The agreement gives the YMCA an option to purchase nine acres of land with an additional six acres to be donated by the college in support of the building project. Merrimack College president, Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A., stated "Because the trustees of Merrimack College consider the YMCA to be uniquely qualified to serve many program needs of Andover and North Andover residents, the community citizenship role of the college requires that we give every possible assistance to this worthwhile project."

Greater Lawrence YMCA president Dean K. Webster and General Director Edward P. Fuce both remarked upon the cooperative spirit which prevailed throughout many conferences with Merrimack College representatives including treasurer Rev. Thomas Kenny, O.S.A., assistant to the president Col. Earl V. Brown, and vice president for development Robert F. Hatem.

Fred H. Harrison, president of the Andover Branch YMCA, pointed out the great need for new facilities. Since succeeding the Andover Youth Center in 1967, and serving only Andover residents, the Andover Branch has developed an extensive program. Its present active membership of over 3554 makes it the largest suburban YMCA in Massachusetts.

Douglas N. Howe, chairman of the site committee, reported that the committee devoted over a year to study of all possible sites before concluding that only the Merrimack College property, which is just 200 feet from the North Andover line, filled all needs as determined by the committee.

Located on Haverhill Street, between an apartment complex and the college engineering laboratory building, the selected site has 500 feet of frontage and a depth of 1400 feet in the direction of Elm Street.

In addition to a functional building, the site provides room for extensive parking areas and for many outdoor recreation features.

The location is easily reached from all parts of Andover and North Andover via routes 114, 125, 133 and Elm Street. In addition to Chairman Howe, members of the site committee were: Walter Webster, Ronald Guittarr, David McDonald, Jr., Walter V. Demers, Jr., Harry N. Snook, Robert A. Watters, Mrs. Edward W. Stupack, Atty. Harold Morley, Jr., and Charles B. Swanson.

The YMCA became a part of Andover's family recreation facilities following a study committee report introduced by Robert A. Watters, chairman of the selectmen in 1967.

The Watters committee reported that the best solution to solving Andover's needs for public recreation facilities, was to seek the Lawrence YMCA and determine if there was an interest in beginning a branch here in Andover to serve both the local community as well as North Andover.

In August of 1967, the Andover Youth Center offered use of its facilities to the Greater Lawrence YMCA to determine if it was feasible for development of a program here.

The Lawrence officials agreed to try the program on a one-year basis and assigned Richard Cate as director of the program. He came to the Youth Center in October, 1967 and initiated a program of activity on Oct. 9, 1967.

The Youth Center became a branch of the YMCA legally in February of 1969, after the former Youth Center was dissolved through court action.

It has flourished since, with strong membership and an abundance of activities, conducted through the use of the Brook street building, as well as Phillips Academy and town recreational facilities.

Drama Group Meets

At the March first meeting of the November Club the Drama Department will present Elizabeth

Ann Gynan in a delightful program of drama, comedy, prose, poetry, songs and guitar entitled "Something To Think About."

Dessert will be served at 1:30 p.m. by Mrs. Newton A. Jones' tea committee followed by the 2 p.m. meeting.

Pourers will be Mrs. George H. Musk and Mrs. Arthur E. Kerwien.

INFLUENCES ON REAL ESTATE VALUES

Do you know that your Real Estate is affected by many factors?

The purchasing power of any neighborhood is very important. It limits property values according to the ability to pay.

A booming economy in an area where there is a substantial growth of business activity can zoom property values to unprecedented heights. In these instances the growth in population creates greater demand. Economic depreciation will have an opposite effect.

The way a property is utilized is very important. If real estate is maintained, improved and put to its highest use, the owner is more assured that his property will retain its value.

In the case of rentals, functional obsolescence along with physical depreciation affect the rental value. The larger the area a rental is located in, the more resistance to deteriorating influences exists.

Site Chosen For Andover Y

Officials of the Greater Lawrence Y.M.C.A. and Merrimack College have jointly announced the signing of an agreement which will permit the YMCA to acquire some 15 acres of college property.

On this land the YMCA plans to erect a family-centered YMCA building to be a new and modern home for its Andover branch. The planned new facility will serve residents of both Andover and North Andover.

During off-peak hours the "Y" will provide physical education and recreation programs for Merrimack College students.

The agreement gives the YMCA an option to purchase nine acres of land with an additional six acres to be donated by the college in support of the building project. Merrimack College president, Rev. John R. Aherne, O.S.A., stated "Because the trustees of Merrimack College consider the YMCA to be uniquely qualified to serve many program needs of Andover and North Andover residents, the community citizenship role of the college requires that we give every possible assistance to this worthwhile project."

Greater Lawrence YMCA president Dean K. Webster and General Director Edward F. Fuce both remarked upon the cooperative spirit which prevailed throughout many conferences with Merrimack College representatives including treasurer Rev. Thomas Kenny, O.S.A., assistant to the president Col. Earl V. Brown, and vice president for development Robert F. Hatem.

Fred H. Harrison, president of the Andover Branch YMCA, pointed out the great need for new facilities. Since succeeding the Andover Youth Center in 1967, and serving only Andover residents, the Andover Branch has developed an extensive program. Its present active membership of over 3554 makes it the largest suburban YMCA in Massachusetts.

Douglas N. Howe, chairman of the site committee, reported that the committee devoted over a year to study of all possible sites before concluding that only the Merrimack College property, which is just 200 feet from the North Andover line, filled all needs as determined by the committee.

Located on Haverhill Street, between an apartment complex and the college engineering laboratory building, the selected site has 500 feet of frontage and a depth of 1400 feet in the direction of Elm Street.

In addition to a functional building, the site provides room for extensive parking areas and for many outdoor recreation features.

The location is easily reached from all parts of Andover and North Andover via routes 114, 125, 133 and Elm Street. In addition to Chairman Howe, members of the site committee were: Walter Webster, Ronald Guittarr, David McDonald, Jr., Walter V. Demers, Jr., Harry N. Snook, Robert A. Watters, Mrs. Edward W. Stupack, Atty. Harold Morley, Jr., and Charles E. Swanson.

The YMCA became a part of Andover's family recreation facilities following a study committee report introduced by Robert A. Watters, chairman of the selectmen in 1967.

The Watters committee reported that the best solution to solving Andover's needs for public recreation facilities, was to seek the Lawrence YMCA and determine if there was an interest in beginning a branch here in Andover to serve both the local community as well as North Andover.

In August of 1967, the Andover Youth Center offered use of its facilities to the Greater Lawrence YMCA to determine if it was feasible for development of a program here.

The Lawrence officials agreed to try the program on a one-year basis and assigned Richard Cate as director of the program. He came to the Youth Center in October, 1967 and initiated a program of activity on Oct. 9, 1967.

The Youth Center became a branch of the YMCA legally in February of 1969, after the former Youth Center was dissolved through court action.

It has flourished since, with strong membership and an abundance of activities, conducted through the use of the Brook street building, as well as Phillips Academy and town recreational facilities.

Drama Group Meets

At the March first meeting of the November Club the Drama Department will present Elizabeth

Ann Gynan in a delightful program of drama, comedy, prose, poetry, songs and guitar entitled "Something To Think About."

Dessert will be served at 1:30 p.m. by Mrs. Newton A. Jones' tea committee followed by the 2 p.m. meeting.

Pourers will be Mrs. George H. Musk and Mrs. Arthur E. Kerwien.

Town Hall

The selectmen this week, we think, made a wise decision in withdrawing articles concerning renovation of town hall along with a proposed addition.

Instead, the board will seek $35,000 for planning funds, with the matter being presented on a more solidly planned basis at the October town meeting.

This makes sense.

As matters stood, prior to Monday's action, $200,000 was to be applied to an addition from the 1965 new town hall account, totalling almost $550,000.

The remainder of that account was to go to some other capital project, either the Doherty school addition or the water treatment plant.

In addition, the selectmen were going to ask for $100,000 for renovating and remodeling the existing structure.

Now, the board will seek planning funds to properly come before the voters in October with definitive plans.

In the interim, it can be solidly determined whether an addition is in fact, necessary.

Possibly, sufficient use of the present facilities, adequately and properly planned, may prove an addition is not necessary.

Certainly the time is not appropriate to plan for an entire new structure, what with the spiraling costs of municipal government and the proposed new school construction.

Assuredly the approximately $550,000 appropriated in 1965 will not cover costs of a new building.

Some board members fear that a change of heart, may lead to loss of overall funds for renovation and possible addition.

The answer to that question would be that by defeating the articles, voters would indicate a preference for an entirely new facility.

This, we feel, will not happen.

The selectmen have insisted that town boards and committees planning major projects, present firm plans before inserting articles in the warrant for town meeting action.

Realizing that they do not have the necessary planning to properly present their proposals to town meeting, the selectmen have now decided to wait.

It is a proper move.

In addition to obtaining planning funds, the article in the special town meeting warrant, within the annual town meeting, will move toward abandoning the $550,000 account of 1965 favoring a new town hall, and will also petition the General Court, for alternate use of those funds.

All things considered, the selectmen appear to have placed the town hall issue in its proper perspective by their actions this week.

Election

Next Monday is an important day in the life of Andover.

It is the annual town election, when the voters have the opportunity to select those who will lead the community through its difficult days.

We mention difficult, since we live in perilous times economically.

No one needs to be reminded of the high cost of municipal operations. There are necessities to which the town must commit itself in the coming year, as well as in future years.

To adequately guide the future destinies of Andover, the community needs proper leadership, something every adult resident of the town has the opportunity to choose annually.

This year, Andover's election offers a wide choice of candidates, in all contests, which makes for an interesting election possibility.

The candidates have been busily campaigning, making their views known to the voters.

On Monday, the hour of decision will be at hand.

In the selection of a moderator, the voters have the opportunity of selecting the man who guides the town meetings. He is in sole command of the annual and special sessions. He also is the appointing authority for members of the Finance committee, the financial watchdogs of the town.

The selectmen are the policy making board of the town, working with the town manager in the development of plans and projects for the community.

The school committee guides the destiny of the public education system, a mushrooming financial responsibility for the town.

In the housing authority, there are expanding powers being granted to this board, which must be directed responsibly.

With these responsibilities clearly outlined before the voters, it is incumbent upon all to exercise their franchise on Monday.

The future of Andover depends on a good turnout.

Apathy towards election is dangerous.

A good response on Monday will indicate Andover residents are interested in their community - an interest which will provide for a good future for the town.

Down The Years

75 Years Ago - February, 1896

Monday was one of the coldest days of the year, the temperature dipping to 10 to 20 degrees below zero.

A Phillips Street bobsled crashed into a wagon Saturday night, with many occupants of the 'bob' being shaken up but no serious injuries.

A rather striking sight is that of 20 young men in light clothing and no headgear running through town these days. They are members of the Phillips Academy track team training for the interscholastic races in Boston, March 7.

A local man was fined $5 in police court this week for violation of the Lord's Day rules when he discharged a firearm on Sunday.

The second contest of the Cutshamachee Club was held in Town hall this week to the delight of many terpsichord enthusiasts.

50 Years Ago - February, 1921

Several gallons of 'moonshine' seized in a raid on a Main street store last Saturday night. Owner fined $100 in police court.

All articles pertaining to development of Shawsheen as a model village widely approved at meeting to discuss town meeting warrant.

Old Smith Mansion on North Main street in Shawsheen is completely renovated and ready to open as an inn on Monday, under the name of Shawsheen Manor.

Candidates for town offices show little interest. All incumbents seek re-election with no competition with one exception, constable, where four men are seeking the three spots open.

Town meeting to open on Monday with annual town election, then adjourn to another date for other articles in the warrant. This is the first time the town has adopted this policy.

25 Years Ago - February, 1946

Main interest in local elections centers in the race for moderator, selectmen and board of public works.

Nearly 200 couples attend Phillips Academy prom, dancing to the music of Ruby Newman's orchestra.

The Community Orchestra, an organization of which the town is very proud, will give a concert in Memorial Auditorium next week.

Amateur night program scheduled for Community Room in Ballardvale for next week. Contestants expected from North Andover and Lawrence in addition to Andover.

Andover eggs are plentiful and low in price at local stores.

10 Years Ago - February, 1961

New teen center, scrubbed and painted, opens for use of the young people of the community at the Grange Hall on Shawsheen Road.

Hon. Felix Frankfurter, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, heads list of dignitaries honoring the late Col. Henry L. Stimson at Phillips Academy. Stimson, who served under four Presidents, was a graduate of Phillips and a dormitory has been named in his honor.

Many opposed at a Planning Board hearing to proposed shopping center and apartment complex on North Main street adjacent to Shawsheen river.

Selectmen officially notified that the town's population is 15,878, an increase of 1,343, over the census figures of ten years ago.

A total of 9,855 voters are eligible to cast ballots in the annual town election.

What Our Readers Say

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

Article 62 of the current town warrant attempts to solve one aspect of our pollution problem and aims at creating new attitudes of consumption. It has only been a few years since non-returnable cans and bottles have been available in our area and already 90 percent of all soft drinks in N.E. as compared to a national average of 50 percent are of this type. Thus, people are encouraged to litter or are forced to lug them to a dump or trash container. Neither the cans, nor the bottles disintegrate rapidly - only accumulate in greater degree. Thus, heavy costs of clean-up and dumps are incurred and who pays for these? One soft drink available in Andover in both the returnable and non-returnable container is 25 percent cheaper in the returnable form. Surely, then re-using a container still makes sense economically. People also haven't given up the habit of returning bottles as can be seen at local dairies.

No one wishes to create hardship for local businesses only to put pressure on the beverage industry to force it to take cognizance of the public's concern for our environment and our limited natural resources. Since almost all U.S. beers and quite a few soft drinks would still be available in Andover in returnable containers beverage sellers would not suffer as heavily as they infer.

Recycling plants and incinerators for these containers are answers to the mountains of rubbish engulfing us but they are grossly expensive and many years in the future; plus, of course, you and I will have to bear the costs.

When will we appreciate the fact that the world's resources are not unlimited? When will we voters accept the fact that the type of environment today's children will inherit is being determined today by our vote, our pressure on industry and our elected officials, our willingness to appropriate tax money, and our consumer attitudes and personal practices? President Nixon has just issued a national environmental document, Governor Sargent has set forth his conservation goals for Massachusetts, many state legislators are introducing such bills. What is Andover doing? Which elected officials in Andover are protecting our environment and providing ecological leadership? Article 62 is only a beginning - "one small step."

Off The Top Of The Desk

The Patriots (Boston professional football team that is) haven't assurance as yet that their new stadium will be ready for the season opener, or exhibition game in August, but already the town of Foxboro is planning its use for Thanksgiving Day.

Construction of the new Schaefer stadium in Foxboro is well underway and officials of Attleboro, Foxboro and Mansfield are looking for use of the facility for a Thanksgiving day doubleheader for their traditional football rivalries.

The games would be played in the morning beginning at 9:30.

Incidentally, it is reported that when the Pats changed their name from the Boston Patriots to the Bay State Patriots, some residents of the community expressed dismay that the team was not renamed the Foxboro Patriots.

While it is not definite yet, the committee planning the 325th anniversary observance of the town's incorporation, is seeking the services of a noted Andover native and an eminent historian, as its speaker for the Friday night dinner.

It is believed that the man sought will be most willing to accept, provided his schedule does not interfere.

The announcement is expected to be made soon and will be well received by many Andover residents.

Despite the pleas and understandable requests of those ecology devotees, there is still only one substance which can be used to combat ice conditions similar to those of last Saturday night, namely salting the highways.

Spreading of the chemical on highways has been described as a danger to the environment.

It still, however, is the only substance feasible for use at the present time to combat the treacherous conditions created by the freezing conditions so prevalent Saturday night.

While there were some accident reports, none were of a serious nature, due, in most part, to the use of the calcium chloride placed on the roadways.

From here on in, the most typical expression at the very sign of snow, will be, "well it can't last long this time of year."

True, but while it is here, such as the light dusting of Tuesday, conditions must be remembered and safety should be uppermost.

Light snow often covers ice patches, and in many cases, highways become slippery quite quickly, particularly after sundown.

For the birds is an expression which can be taken many ways, but tree experts point out that trees "are for the birds," particularly this time of year.

The birds find trees to be a fine place for shelter in winter weather and also aid in feeding on over-wintering insects, thus preserving trees and shrubs.

These same experts advise that birds more than adequately repay mankind, thus it is important to be sure that enough food is supplied to our fine feathered friends during the winter months.

Glad to see Spring training underway in the southland, which is a sure sign of spring as the baseball teams prepare for another campaign.

Equally happy are we to see that the Red Sox have virtually won the pennant and the starting lineup is already set, even before the intersquad games have begun.

Unfortunately a number of other teams will have something to say about the matter in short order.

Like the old expression about the rookie in his first spring training writing, "I'll be home soon, they started throwing curves today."

Mrs. Glenda Schaae

Staff

Mrs. Glenda Schaae is the proof that hometown talent is the best to be found. For Glenda has lived in Andover since she was one year old, and she is a top-notch librarian, even though only in her early twenties. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norton of Wildwood Road. After attending Nason College for a year (long enough to meet her future husband, Paul Schaae), Glenda came home to finish at Merrimack College in the class of '69. At the present time she is attending Simmons School of Library Science, working almost full time at Memorial Hall Library, and keeping house for her husband. Paul is a computer programmer, employed at Innovative Software in Waltham.

Memorial Hall Library took a claim on Glenda in 1966 when she was hired as a page and when she worked on the Circulation Desk. Later, after starting at Simmons, she was transferred to the Reference Desk. This past fall, Glenda assumed the position of head of the Interlibrary Loan Department, and also Head of the Film Department. The Interlibrary Loan Office services 25 public libraries in our geographical area, supplying them with books and films which are not in their libraries, and transferring their requests to Roston Public Library, if necessary. Head of the Film Department means Glenda is very busy filling requests for films from any organization in town which asks for this service and at the same time she is building up the collection. Films and other audio-visual equipment are the most exciting area of library growth today, and it is essential that the person in charge of this work be modern and forward-looking in the uses of this media. Mrs. Schaae is the one with the talent and the skill for the job.

When away from the library Glenda likes to knit and sew. She's a good skier, and she also likes to look for stamps for her husband's collection.

Speaker

Memorial Hall Library and the Great Books Program of Andover are sponsoring a talk by a young novelist, James Park Sloan. Mr. Sloan's first book was published by Houghton Mifflin Company this month, and it is receiving very good reviews, including one by Brock Brower of Life Magazine. Mr. Sloan will speak at 8 p.m. on March 2 in the Memorial Hall on the second floor of the library. Everyone is invited to attend. Mr. Sloan's book is called "War Games" and it is available at the library.

Ecologists

The Education and Publicity Committee, an outgrowth of Andover Ecology Action, is preparing to publish a list of books which is considered essential to teaching conservation and ecology in the schools. At the same time the committee, composed of members from the five Greater Lawrence communities, Salem, N.H., Methuen, Lawrence, North Andover and Andover, will print as part of its brochure a calendar of the month of April, Ecology Month. Each day of the month of April will show the activities and meetings which are scheduled for that date. Mrs. Ashton Smith is chairman of this committee and is acting as a clearing house for all community events planned for April in the field of ecology. If your group is planning a program you may call the library - 475-6960 - and leave the date and subject of your event. The calendar will be given wide coverage and will reach schools and organizations in the Greater Lawrence area. The publicity is free and will serve as a permanent record of the significance and importance of ecology in our area.

Programs

Story Hour will be held this Thursday, Feb. 25, at 3:30 at the library for school children. Next week the film program will continue at the same time.

Tribute Planned At Temple

On Friday evening, Feb. 26, at 8 p.m., Temple Emanuel of the Merrimack Valley, 101 West Forest St., Lowell, will pay tribute to the memory of Nelson Glueck, who passed away on Feb. 12. Dr. Glueck held the office of president of the Hebrew Union College Jewish Institute of Religion, and in his capacity as Rabbi, delivered the benediction at the inauguration of President John F. Kennedy.

Rabbi S. Daniel Breslauer has entitled his sermon "In His Father's Footsteps - The Genius of Nelson Glueck." Temple Emanuel's ties with the college institute have been very strong and close since some of its former rabbis have been graduates of the school, and since one of its former rabbis, Alvin J. Reines, has been a leading professor at the school for many years.

The influence and inspiration of Nelson Glueck has left a deep imprint upon the pattern of Reform Judaism in recent years. Temple Emanuel joins with the entire membership of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, as well as leaders in all walks of life in mourning the passing of this illustrious leader.

The Oneg Shabbat following the service will be sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Goldman. All members of the general community are invited to attend.

Miss Elizabeth F. McClung

Miss McClung Engaged To Mr. Schwarz

Mr. and Mrs. James M. McClung, 26 West Bradstreet Road, North Andover, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth F., to Robert J. Schwarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Schwarz, 7 Robandy Road.

Miss McClung, a graduate of North Andover High School and Bryant McIntosh Junior College, is employed as a secretary at The Furniture Barn, North Andover.

Special Session Is Called

A special town meeting within the annual town meeting has been called by the selectmen.

The special session is scheduled for Monday, March 15 at 9 p.m. and the warrant will contain three articles.

The selectmen this week authorized the inclusion of a request for the school department for $18,000 for renovation of the Stowe school for administrative offices, their own article asking $35,000 for planning funds for renovation and addition to the town hall and a request from River Road residents for rezoning of an industrial tract of land owned by Russell G. Doyle.

With the exception of the town hall article, the selectmen voted to allow the articles to be included in the warrant, reserving their own stand on the items.

The $18,000 request was presented by Supt. of Schools Dr. Kenneth R. Seifert. The selectmen included their own article which had been drawn up by town counsel and will deal with a $550,000 appropriation which was bonded five years ago for a new town hall and never used.

The rezoning proposal was presented by John Clark, who asked that about 100 acres from the Lawrence line to about the section of old River road near Route 93, be rezoned from industrial to residential.

Doyle had requested that the residential properties be rezoned at the October town meeting, but withdrew the article at that time. The problem is that the industrial property is land-locked, bordered on one side by residential property and on the other by conservation land.

Access to the property is prohibited.

Clark told the selectmen that Doyle was not opposed to the reclassification, so long as he could get a return on his investment.

There was a question as to whether the article could be presented since the planning board must hold a hearing on the matter and report to the town meeting. The time element is questionable, but by a unanimous vote of the board, the selectmen allowed its insertion in the warrant.

A vote not to allow the article at this time, moved by Selectman Sidney P. White, was defeated, on votes of Selectmen Roger W. Collins, George E. Heseltine and Chairman Robert A. Watters.

Forum

A student-parent forum will be held Wednesday at the high school at 7:30 p.m.

A panel of students will be present to discuss questions raised by the audience.

Parents may also send questions to the high school before hand which they may wish discussed during the program.

Re-Elect William F. KING To Your School Committee

Addition For Telephone Building

Expansion of the central office of the Andover exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., is underway on Elm street.

The facility which accommodates all Andover telephone subscribers, has had to be expanded to accommodate the growth of the town and to meet demands, according to Charles A.
Papalia, manager of the local office.

The addition will almost double the existing building, making the total space almost double its original size when it was opened in 1957.

The addition is expected to be completed by the third quarter of this year and equipment moved in and in operation by the first quarter of 1972, according to Papalia.

Total cost of the addition is estimated to be $320,000 and the cost of equipment to be added estimated at an additional $359,- 000.

The new addition will also reflect the toll call growth of the town, with the new installation containing circuits to accommodate Andover to Salem, Haverhill and Boston calls.
